

WHO I AM

✉ info@thetproject.sg

🌐 thetproject.sg

fb.me/thetproject

ACCEPT

Christopher Khor,
Photo by Dinesh Ajith

“I am who I am, but being transgender specifically is not the centre of my being. I think it’s become so much a part of me that I would not be who I am without it, but does it define me? I don’t think so.”

-Christopher Khor

How can I help?

Donate

Donate to help fund the T Project’s shelter. All proceeds go to providing daily necessities and shelter.

<http://thetproject.com.sg/donate>

Pledge

Pledge that you will accept transgenders in your workplace and school. Show them that you care.

<http://thetproject.com.sg/pledge>

Providing a shelter for homeless transgenders

Many transgenders are disowned after coming out to their family members. Most of them are in their youth when they chose to come out, hence being homeless at such a young age can affect their future education.

Discriminated by society

Transgenders often have a hard time integrating with society and find it difficult to find a job even though they are perfectly capable of it. Similarly, transgenders are often targets of bullying in school and work.

The T Project’s Shelter
Photo by June Chua